Description:

THE NIGHT LAND -- William Hope Hodgson's brilliant but ultimately flawed masterpiece -- presents a view of the world billions of years in the future, after the death of the sun. In a dead world, the last vestiges of humanity cling to life in a dark pyramid, while all about them unfathomable forces gather to destroy. . . . An unforgettable vision of the future! Features an introduction by H.P. Lovecraft. Few can equal him.. -- H.P. Lovecraft

Definitely one of the more unique books I've read. It is most similar to The Dream-Quest of Unknown Kadath, or I Have No Mouth and I Must Scream. Although the story itself isn't that amazing, the world that Hodgson has created is fantastic. My main issue is that the writing is very repetitive. Very often you will find the phrase and you will see this to be good, and the author apparently thought it necessary to inform the reader every time the protagonist prepares water or food for himself, even if the act is completely uneventful. The cover of this book is also a bit ugly. The image on the front appears to be a low-resolution image that was blown up. Not exactly something to show off on your bookshelf.
